

Loren wants new meeting of lawyers on poll protest

By Cynthia D. Riano

LAWYERS of former Sen. Loren Legarda have asked for another meeting of professional conference with the counsel of Vice President Markas Canino to expedite the resolution of her electoral protest.

Gen. Brillantes and Juan Carlos, counsel to Legarda, told the Supreme Court, citing on the Presidential Electoral Tribunal, that there was a need to immediately discuss the immediate action of ballot boxes from Congress to formally start the process of resolution of election protest and certification of outcome for the 2009 vice presidential contest.

In their preliminary brief earlier, Brillantes pointed out that the Canino's lawyers made representations that would only lead to a "tailored" and prolonged process which would further delay the adjournment of the case.

Complicated procedure

He said Legarda's legal team would like to clarify and throw-out some "unclear and disturbing" recommendations and suggestions made by the protesters, which Legarda believed may either be totally unnecessary, in applicable and/or founded on some mere misconceptions.

Brillantes and Carlos also declared that while they were proposing a simplified system of reviewing and consolidating the votes cast, the Canino's lawyers were suggesting a more complicated one.

"There appears to be some glaring confusion in the proposals of the parties which would avoid that while protesters Loren wants matters expedited, protesters (De Castro) seems bent on prolonging the process, contrary to the protesters' lawyers' constant public pronouncements of his supposed desire to expedite the entire process," they said.

Dismissed

The former senator filed her protest against De Castro on July 22, 2004, together with the late Fernando Poe Jr., her running mate for the presidency in the May 10, 2004 election under the opposition coalition by legitimizing Philippine (PNO) franchise. Poe's protest was dismissed in December following his death.

The first preliminary conference of lawyers in the matter was held only last July 12, 2005.

During the conference, Legarda asked the PET to take custody of the contested ballot boxes which are in the custody of the House of Representatives.

However, De Castro's lawyer objected and filed a motion to dismiss, prompting the PET to require both sides to submit their respective briefs on the issue.

No German visas for 50 RP delegates to World Youth Day

MUNICH—Germany has denied visas to at least 50 young Filipinos wanting to attend next week's World Youth Day, a Catholic festival in Cologne, a church official said Wednesday.

The official for the Catholic Bishops' Conference of the Philippines Commission on Youth told AFP on condition of anonymity that the church was "very disappointed" with the decision.

He said 527 delegates from the Philippines would be attending the event, which begins on Aug. 16.

"Initially the German government had denied 189 Filipino visas but when we appealed, 40 were given visas," the spokesman said.

A German embassy spokeswoman referred queries to her foreign ministry.

An estimated 800,000 young people from across the globe are expected to be drawn to Cologne for World Youth Day.

The delegates from the Philippines will consist of 40 priests and young Catholics from around the country.

It is understood that those not granted visas were from the Visayas and Mindanao.

"We find it very strange that these young people have been singled out by the German government. Despite repeated requests the church has not been given any reason why their visas were denied them," the official said.

Russia probes sub accident

ELECTRONICS—Russian probe into the accident involving the submarine that sank near the coast of the Pacific Ocean last week, and analysts said the incident was another blow to the navy's morale.

An initial investigation has established that the submarine was responsible for the accident, and the navy is now working to prevent a similar accident from happening again.

One of the submarine's crew, Capt. Alexey Lysenko, revealed Tuesday that the submarine had been in a state of emergency for several days before the accident, and that the crew had been struggling to keep the submarine afloat.

Russia had to appeal for outside help to rescue the submarine, which was 100 meters below the surface off Kamchatka Peninsula.

Russian ships were able to reach the site and the submarine was raised to the surface, but it was damaged beyond repair. The submarine was carrying 100 crew members, and 10 were killed in the accident.

More than 100 Russian ships were involved in the rescue operation, and the navy is now working to improve its submarine rescue capabilities.

Analysts say the accident was a major blow to the navy's morale, and that the navy is now working to rebuild its confidence.

"Congratulations on a truly spectacular test flight," Mission Specialist Ellison S. Sizemore said after Discovery was launched on the morning of Aug. 28, 2005, from the Kennedy Space Center, Florida.

The shuttle's mission was to test the new main engine, which was designed to be more powerful than the previous one.

But the shuttle's future is uncertain, as the navy is now working to improve its submarine rescue capabilities.

From rebel hotbed to trading hub

By Michael B. Justice
Ligao City

THE PLACE was no man's land and a mine's land until more than a decade ago. Armed encounters between government soldiers and communist rebels had been ordinary scenes in the isolated, mountainous communities in Ligao City in Albay.

Today the hotbed is now a hub of economic activities that attracts the villagers with a population of more than 10,000.

Paula Lopez, 48, opened her own eatery in 2005 and was earning a daily income of $500 when the 10,000-member Central Economic Zone (CEZ) was set up. She says she has no regrets about staying in the area.

Other small businesses have sprouted in the area, a corner just past the school campus of Santa Clara, Therese, Immaculate, Sacred Heart and St. Ignace. But Lopez has not moved the eatery.

"It's OK with me," she said. "What is important is that the needs of the community are being met."

Inside the a number of small eatery stores, the CEZ has a small bank, a small grocery, a small laundry and more a couple.

The eatery is now considered the central bank of the area, according to the city and the province. It is now the center of the area, according to the city and the province.

Today, the upland community has a 14 km, 3 to 4 km road connecting the town from the mountain. Transport vehicles keep the town busy.

Crops

When the business started in 2001, no crops were planted along the road. Today most of the area property has been planted to hybrid corn, papaya, banana, banana, ginger, and other crops. The area is now a perfect haven for New People's Army rebels.

Most of the households inside or near the economic zone have TV sets, radios, and other modern appliances and even some motorcycles that can drive on the primary roads of transportation for their local products.

Socio-political life

Two years ago, Ligao had only one motorcycle (motor, gasoline and fuel, and fuel).

The CEZ has greatly improved the economic, social and spiritual life of the people.

Don. Fr. Ed. Ramos, of the Our Lady of the Holy Family Parish said that since the local people have built the economic zone, the village's way of life has become no longer different from that of the city.

The village, especially the children, who used to be timid and shy, have become confident and sociable. The children are the ones who managing their parents to have them, he said.

Seeing the promise of prosperity in the area, people from other areas have traveled to search for work in the community. They enjoy the economic, social and cultural activities, such as playing basketball, singing and dancing, and even watching movies and sports on radio TV provided by the local government and positioned on a concrete table near the basketball court.

Basilio Batao-Rubio, 44, who is an original worker in the area, claimed that since the establishment of the CEZ, he has never felt lonely anymore.

Today, he said, he no longer has to leave home alone. He has now plenty of recreational activities, including basketball. He, then, a couple.

Cavite gov decries connivance to have him ousted from post

TRINIDAD CITY.—Cavite Mayor "Noy" Morales has issued the ultimatum that he is legally continuing with the franchise bid to return to office as governor following his removal from the post with the controversial ruling.

But Gov. Antonio Bonilla said it is not his job to issue a ruling on a complaint at the Commission on Elections. Bonilla said the resolution of the case is left to the courts.

The case was referred to the alleged "ghost purchase" of the franchise bid reportedly paid to P1 million.

The power law is cited as the grounds for a complete ban, saying the government intervention was unconstitutional and property destroyed.

"No in other transactions of the office of the governor, it was not actually submitted to the provincial board which this vice governor himself is a providing officer," he explained.

Morales has issued a letter President Ferdinand Marcos and other local Liberal Party members to follow the ultimatum and to avoid the administration and to avoid the impeachment process.

It is one of the key figures in the case, saying that he has been ousted from the post.

Morales said that the franchise bid is a perfect opportunity to ensure the franchise bid is not a perfect opportunity.

Energy-conservation measures pushed

By Abigail L. Lee

RECORD-HIGH world oil prices have prompted President Macapagal-Arroyo to direct government agencies to enforce drastic energy-conservation measures, including the possible imposition of higher tariffs on gas generators and the strict implementation of a speed limit on expressways and national highways.

Surging crude prices bloat imports by 27%

Based on the measures submitted during the National Economic and Development Authority Board meeting last Tuesday, Energy Secretary Raymond Lito said the government was looking at increasing the tariff shipped on the importation of vehicles with high engine displacement.

He said the Senate and the Department of Finance should consider such measures to curb energy costs.

He said the use of gas-guzzling vehicles and low fuel economy cars is a major cause of energy waste.

Also, Philippine National Gas (PhilNG) and the Traffic Management Group last week asked to consider imposing a speed limit of 80 kilometers per hour (right-of-way) on expressways and national highways in this way to save fuel-efficient cars.

Right now, an 80-kph speed limit is already implemented on expressways. However, many vehicles, particularly on relatively low traffic parts of the highways, go way beyond that limit.

Lito said his agency had also ordered the Department of Energy to work with oil firms on the price.

Electronics exports continue downtrend

By Dexter L. Lazo

THE COUNTRY should restrict its exports into easy from its "shining" independence on the sale of electronic components abroad, according to the National Economic and Development Authority.

NEDA's preliminary notes on the performance showed a 6.7 percent annual decline in the value of electronics exports in June to $1.7 billion from $1.7 billion in the same period last year.

"I think we are too reliant on the electronic sector," Economic Planning Secretary Antonio Bautista said in an interview provided this time to identify our exports away from electronics."

According to documents from the National Statistics Office (NSO), the June figure marked the second consecutive month of decline for the electronics sector, which also saw foreign sales decline by an annual 4.1 percent in May.

Electronics components account for 65 percent of the country's total exports and are a critical source of local currency for the local economy.

"The NSO, this is alarming," Bautista said. Most importantly, the NSO chief said that both imports and exports figures have been on a downward trend. History of the sector is a worrisome phenomenon he said to his sector.

According to the last three figures, the decline in foreign trade activity was a clear indication of slower economic activity in the country, aggravated by a weakening global economy.

"We don't have long to dig this well," he said, adding that the country's local economic output—or the gross domestic product—could grow by 5.2 percent this year if the situation is aggravated by a 500-a-hour strike and price. The government's official domestic demand stands at 5.2 percent.

Despite this, total merchandise exports managed to rise out a 10-percent annual growth. According to the NSO, total exports reached $1.5 billion at the end of the first semester, compared to the $1.7 billion reported in the same period last year.

The latest export growth rate was significantly slower than the government's 6 percent projection, although the third quarter of the year has traditionally offered electronics export growth. For his part, Export Development Council chief Sergio Orbic-Lara downplayed the June report's numbers, saying the electronics sector registered a sharp uptick in sales in the second semester.

In fact, NSO Chief Economatista and Executive Director of the Philippines, Inc. (PEI) said the electronics sector registered a sharp uptick in sales in the second semester.

Dell picks RP for major call center project

DELL, Inc., the world's biggest computer company, will open a major call center in the Philippines next year.

It will be the American company's second call center in Asia that will come to Dell's global market, the first being established in India.

Dell plans initially to hire and train approximately 100 employees to support and customer service agents and will begin recruiting for 70 key leadership and administrative positions by the end of this month.

Dell expects to begin recruiting and hiring technical support specialists in November from new offices at the NSO, then move to Manila City. The company and its customers will complete the project by the end of the year.

The Philippines Stock Exchange continues to show a 1.03 percent increase in the day's highest of 4,111.13. It ended the day at a close of 4,111.13.

Dell selected the Philippines for the customer service center expansion because of its high quality work force with strong language and communication skills. The Philippines has about 100 contract centers, more than 200 colleges and universities and more than 100,000 college students.

Dell has consistently led its industry in phone-based personal computer technical support services for customers. It has expanded its customer service capabilities from hardware to include software and applications services such as assistance with virus and spyware issues. Dell also has expanded its customer support channels to include online, such as the Dell Community Forum, e-mail and chat to be able to give customers multiple, convenient ways to access technical support.

PPA income hit P1.4B in H1

By Charles S. Seiler

THE PHILIPPINE Power Authority has reported a net income of P1.37 billion in the first half, up 1.7 percent from last year's analogous measure, most of the impact of a much greater income.

PPA general manager Oscar Toribio said, however, that the first semester performance will not impact the agency's operations. Thus, the port operator aimed its full year profit target at P1.9 billion from its earlier forecast of P1.4 billion.

Revenue estimates were also revised to P1.4 billion against an original target of P1.4 billion, while expenses were also dropping to P1.05 billion from an original estimate of P1.1 billion. Data shows, PPA continues general manager for finance, and the income in the first half was up 5.96 percent to P1.37 billion against P1.27 billion in the same period of 2005.

Expenses, however, dropped by 9.6 percent to P1.05 billion from P1.16 billion in the first semester of 2005.

The income rose due to higher costs of repair and maintenance of ports, increased spending for security, and payment for utility bills including water and phone.

On port revenues, Toribio said some improvement in the volume of traffic led to an average 4 percent gain in revenue.

"There were four foreign vessels but a local ship (domestic traffic) compensated," Toribio said.

Stevedoring and security operations likewise improved, although wharfage collection was down.

This was due to the government's decision to reduce its share in tolls on toll roads to encourage the use of tolls.

The bulk of the income will come from the Marina ports, accounting for about 40 percent of the agency's total collections.

The PPA is slated to operate government-owned ports, help regulate the maritime industry and set up water ports to improve the flow of goods and services.
